LOOM LIFE

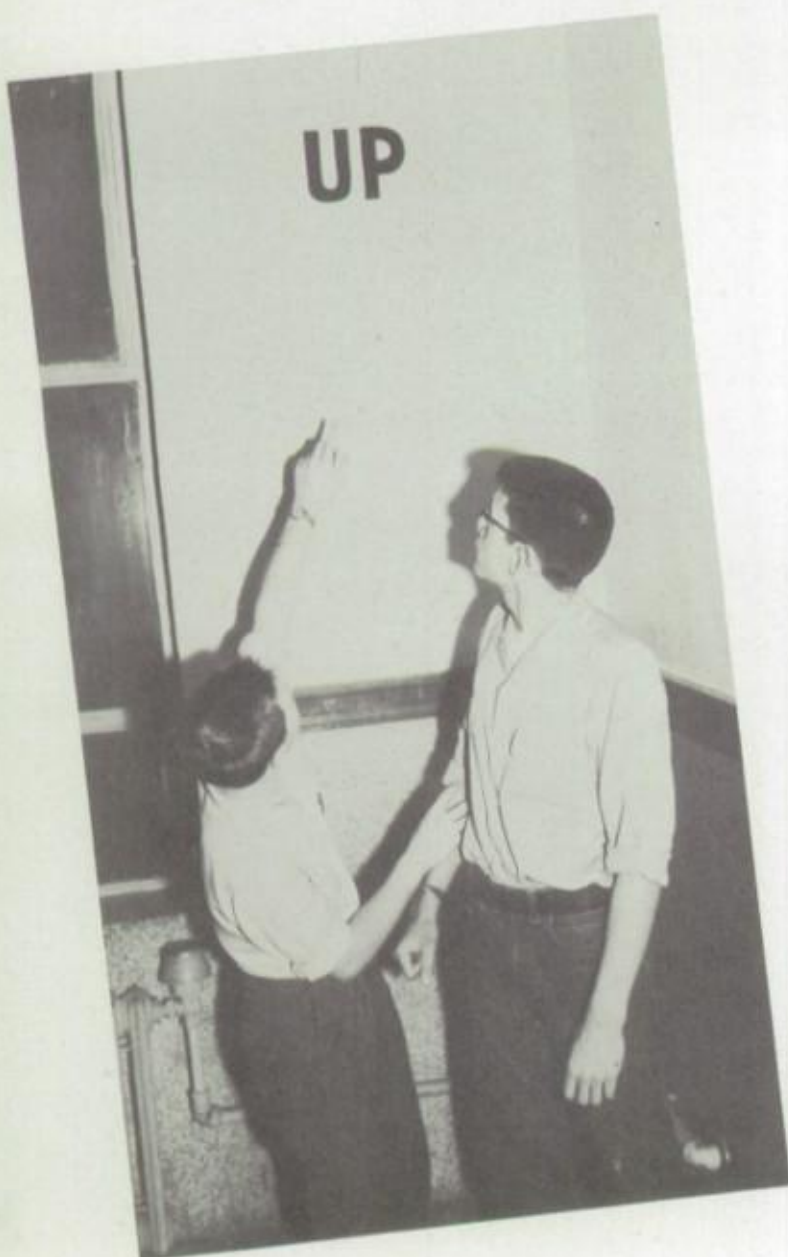

A long with his books and concentrated study,
B etween his classes, during a dance or at a
C lass assembly, the Bloomite finds his place as an individual . . . a person moving in the humming whirl of constructive learning spiced with busy fun and spirited loyalty for his school.

OPENING DAY

Today the bewildered freshmen clashed with their much-at-home upperclassmen for the first time. Many a misdirection and uncalled-for command is given to our unguarded greenhorns. The return to Bloom brings cries of displeasure, but everyone is glad to resume companionships. Striking a colorful contrast, the dark tans set off by bright summer clothes reminds us of pleasant hours spent on sandy beaches and at gay amusement parks. However, as we pass through the frame of our homeroom door, we know it's back to books. We eagerly grab our new programs, hoping for the best. Usually, however, we find we've left our rabbit's foot at home. Let's start another year with the A-B-C's.

Diminutive Don Johnson, senior, corrects freshman Steve Beshore on going down an up stairway.

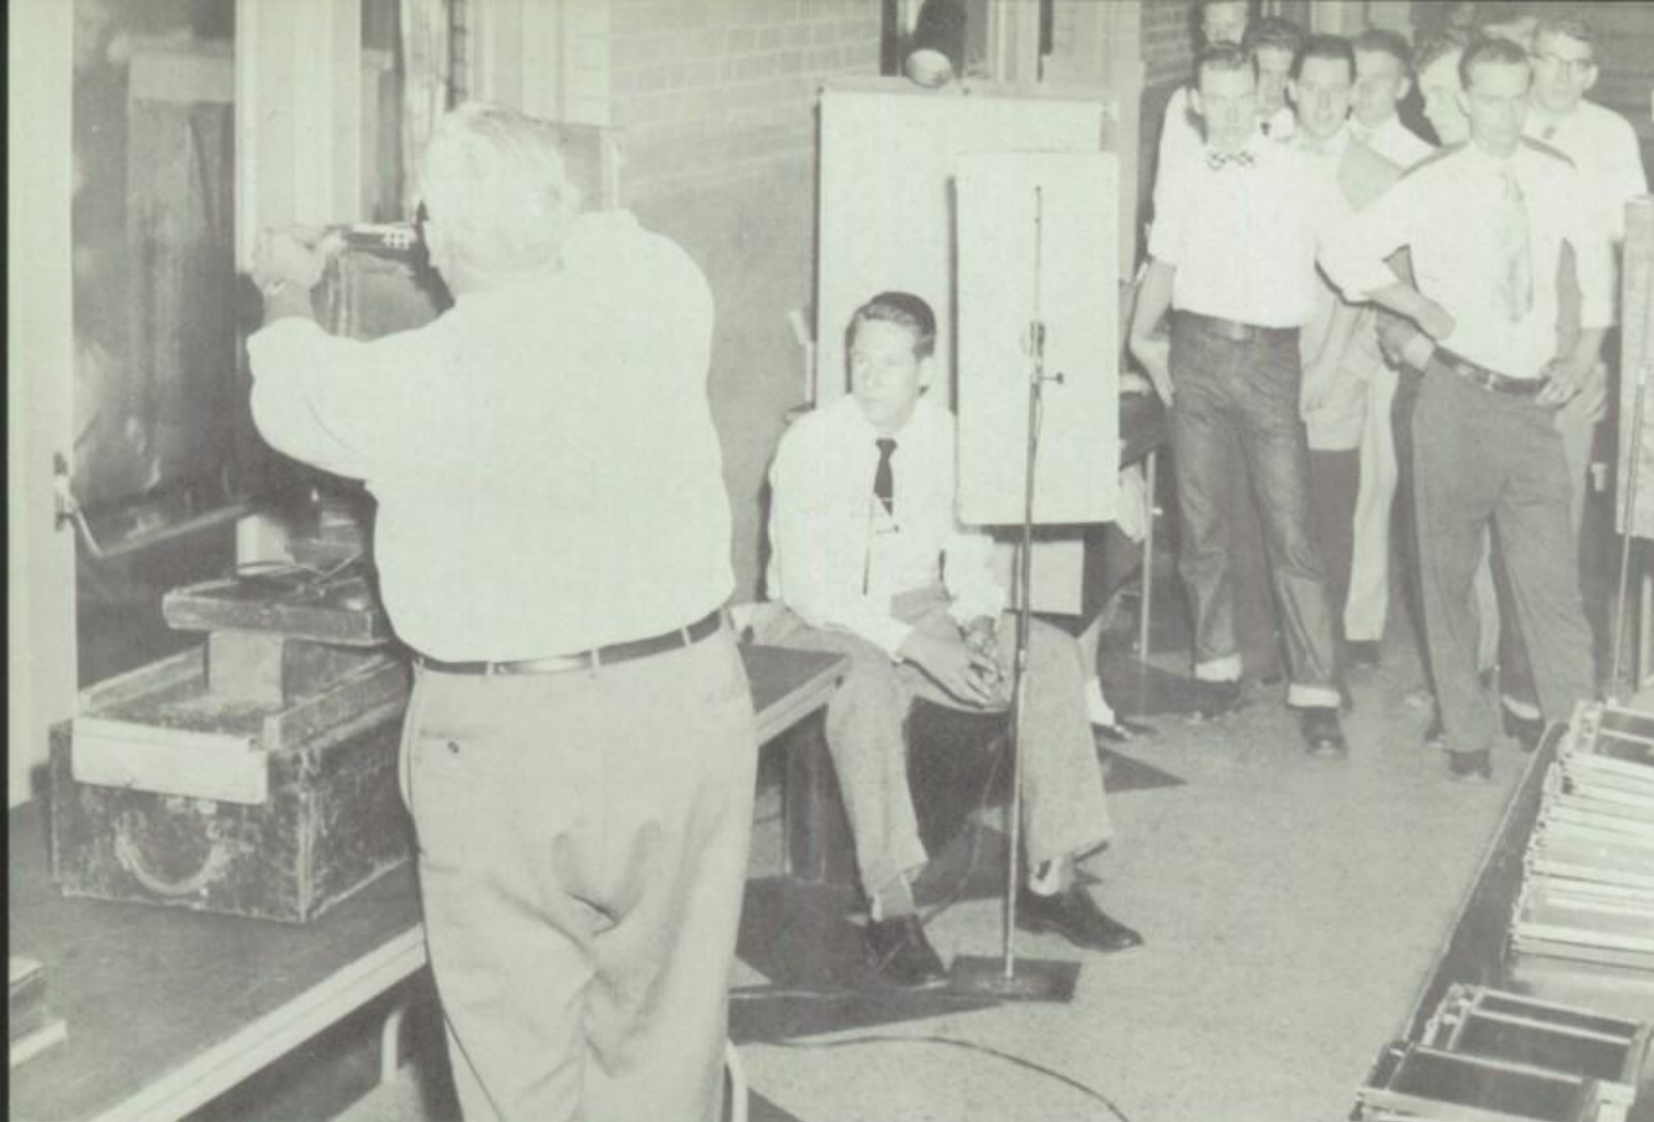

With the first day of school comes book rental day. Mr. Shroyer and Mr. Briggs take two students' rental fees.

Gene Glowacki, junior, convinces the girls that they're headed straight for the exit.

Me-wantum-victory Metcalf arouses braves for the Kankakee game.

Soon after Bloom opens its doors in early fall, the photographer appears with his equipment to take everybody's picture. Gym time is used for sittings for the cameraman as we pose with bright smiles on our faces.

A tradition at Bloom for many years has been that an individual picture of each student appears in the yearbook. Sometimes the underclassmen look like peewees—but they're there. Above, Mr. Flanders prepares to snap a junior, Lowell Walker, as others wait their turn.

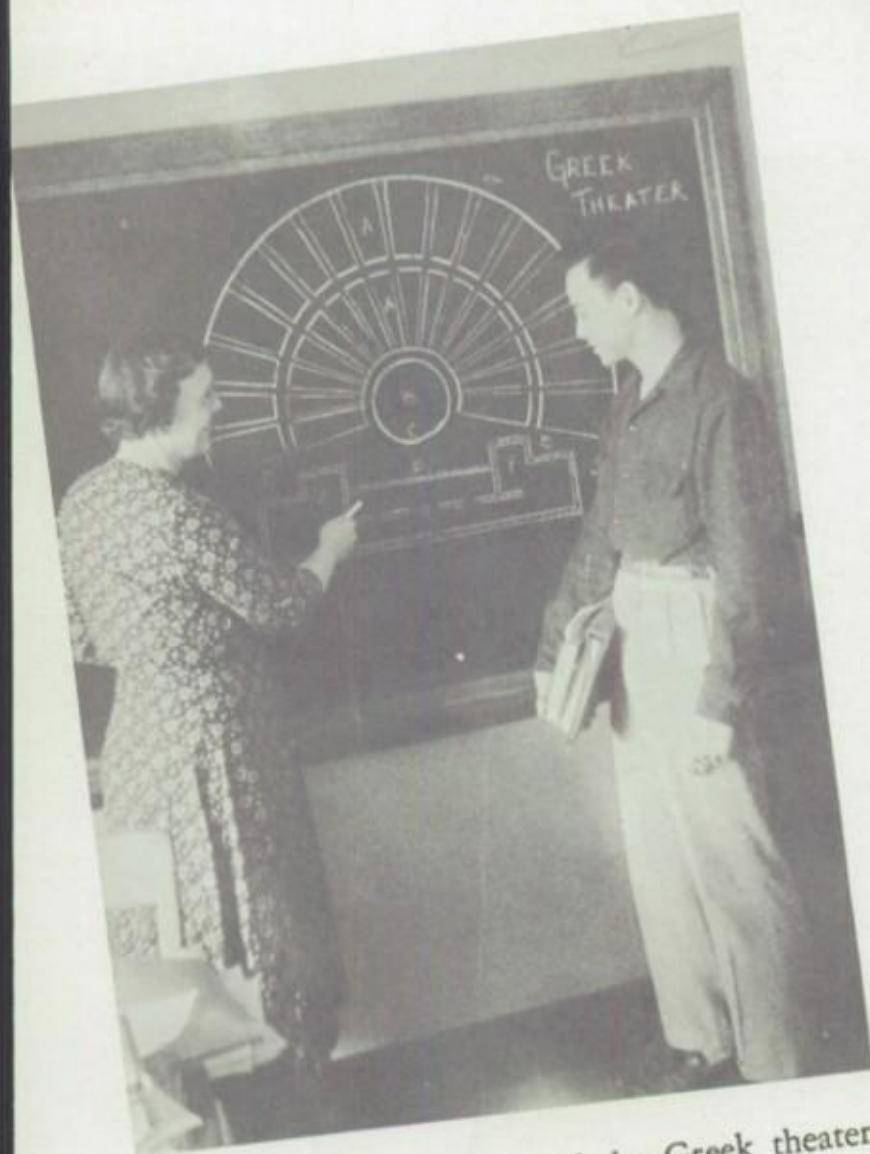

The Beginning

School life at Bloom is not restricted to reading, writing, and arithmetic, for the social side is not neglected. Participation in numerous extra-curricular activities which include the student government, publications, music organizations, and clubs. Chatting with friends in the hallway before and after school keeps occupied those who prefer a more informal method of passing time.

Donna Blaufuss, Stan Jarecki, Judy Cann

After a long day at school, refreshments hit the spot. Alvin Wagner doesn't seem to be having much trouble selling ice cream.

Principles and working of the Greek theater are explained by Mrs. North to Peter Yang during one of her speech classes.

Social Studies

World History, American History, Problems of Democracy! Which one shall I take? Planning a program for the coming year puzzles many students. Social Studies is always a popular department at Bloom. Pictured here is a World History class listening intently to the weekly reports.

Latin Class

And this is the way it works . . . When the deadline for the Latin projects arrives, the class and the teacher take time out to examine them and to listen to reports. Here Dave Leahy's explanation of Caesar's battering ram amuses the entire class.

Crafts

Chemistry—the course where pungent odors, multicolored clouds, and the shattering of test tubes are just an every-day lab occurrence for Mr. Nelson's proteges. This first taste of smoke and smell may lead some students into that field as their life's work.

Physics class is where the Bloom student is first introduced to instruments which measure light and electricity, scientific terminology, and the practical application of higher mathematics. Basically, all mechanical apparatus is derived from a law of physics.

SPEECH

With emphatic gestures and vivid expressions, Dave Utermark makes an informal talk during second hour Speech class. The students learn that voice, actions, emphasis, and the selection of words are all important in the delivery of effective discourse.

Speech is defined as the expression of thoughts in a clear manner. It is evident then that good speech is highly important to an individual.

ENGLISH IV

Gazing on historical landmarks and English structures, Tom O'Rourke, Barbara Devine, and Vince Poerio, English IV students, enjoy a picturesque look over the countryside Shakespeare and Chaucer portrayed in their writings. Our regular English courses are supplemented by classes in drama and speech, creative writing and world literature, and journalism.

PLANE GEOMETRY

"Mr. Andrews, is line DB equal to DA?" asks Tom Egar.

Sophomore plane geometry students cram their heads with theorems, postulates, and axioms in an attempt to master the skills of the ancient Greeks. These skills are still of great value in many modern occupations.

The main objective of geometry is to find the proof of a problem, not by observation or measurement alone, but also by logical reasoning.

Boys Beginning Choir

Mr. Cannelin provides the direction; Carol Langbehn supplies the accompaniment; now all the boys have to do is lend their voices.

Do, re, mi, fa, so, la, ti, do issues from room 150 as Mr. Cannelin starts his Beginning Boys choir from scratch in order to teach them the ins and outs of singing. These freshman songsters have high hopes that they will graduate to the Boys Glee club in the near future.

Sh! Let's take a peek at the new class in Mr. Hippensteel's room. It's called music theory and is a study of music throughout the world. Although it is for piano students, anyone who has interest or talent in music finds this course stimulating and entertaining. Here we see Edna Jaracz at the blackboard taking over for the teacher.

Music Class

FOODS TYPING CLOTHING

Hmm! The mouth-watering aroma of hot rolls, freshly baked, fills the room. Can't you just smell them as Pat Knutson takes them out of the oven. Look at the cinnamon! This is one of the essential classes for the future homemaker.

With the steady chatter coming from the typewriters, typing students try diligently to increase speed with accuracy. Quick and nimble fingers are developed. Here is where many a future secretary gets her start.

These aspiring seamstresses discover the secrets of putting in zippers, taking tucks, and other tricks of the trade. Soon enough proficiency is gained to turn out garments fit for any fashion show.

ART

Under the direction of Mr. Dodge, students master the fundamentals of art. Frank Wojcik, Elmer Wendt, Maynard Kutz, and Carol Gaudio are putting the finishing touches on their Hallowe'en masks. Masks are just one of the many projects that confront art students.

Art classes also help build and decorate scenery for dances, parties, and assemblies.

ART

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Donning shatter-proof glasses, the vocational machine shop students work on the lathes. Machine shop, like many other shop courses, continues for two periods. The boys learn many phases of a machinist trade, such as drilling, using a punch press, a grinder, and a lathe.

Auto mechanics, welding, and foundry, are the other courses offered in the Industrial Arts curriculum.

MANUAL ART

Bloom, as a modern high school, offers courses in all trades that are present here in the community. One such course is cabinet making. The pix shows Mr. Kuras demonstrating the techniques of drilling. With new facilities the boys aspiring to those vocations have a greater opportunity in the shop courses. Besides cabinet making, general woods, freshman shop, and the drawing classes comprise the rest of the manual arts.

MANUAL ART

Mr. E. G. Carlseen, who served us faithfully for many years until his death last summer, is pictured at the left, presenting to the school an enlargement of one of his pictures of the Tower, now hanging in the superintendent's office. Official photographer for the annual, he took senior portraits, group pictures, and some candid.

Kay Pavoggi is a hostess engrossed in deep study. Being one of the official school greeters, she directs guests to their destination. Behind Kay is the architect's drawing of the future expansion program.

Ralph Marchio appears to be confiding in Vicki Vendetti about an important date.

HALF TIME ACTIVITIES

Tying the games together during football as well as basketball season is the duty assigned to Bloom baton and flag twirlers. Background music is supplied by the Pep Band, and every performance is a surprise package with all the ribbons. The fans will agree that we have some real talent!

The Bloom band, under the direction of Mr. Cannelin, goes through its paces much to the enjoyment of the crowd.

Under the watchful eye of drum major Bob Arvin, Joan Boyd gives the crowd a demonstration of her flag twirling ability.

Strutting down the floor, the baton and flag twirlers perform at the half time of the Bloom-Rich basketball game.

Wallace Rieke, Mr. Prombo

A new course, diversified occupations, was added to the curriculum this year as an experiment. This course affords an opportunity to a few select students to go to school a half a day and work the remainder. The thirteen students receive credit and pay while on the job, with pay ranging from $.65 to $1.65 an hour. The program is set up so that the student attends two regular classes, plus a related information class and physical education twice a week. The diversified occupations classes are supervised by Mr. John Prombo, who makes weekly tours to the training stations.

Diversified Occupation

Mr. Angelo Gabriel, Barbara Sylvester

Fashion Show

Highlight of the year for the Home Ec gals is the annual Fashion Show at which they model the dresses, suits, skirts, coats, pajamas, and other garments on which they have toiled during the course. This year the colorful event was held on April 20, in the boys' gym, under the direction of the clothing teachers. Four narrators took turns in describing the costumes as the girls paraded before schoolmates, parents, and friends at the admission-free event.

Projectionists

With a look of doubt on his face, Mr. Richert, who heads the Visual Aid program, watches Gene Lundstrom try to assemble a movie screen. Films dealing with practically every course in the curriculum are shown in the Little Theatre or in individual classrooms. Tape recorders, microphones, record players, and film strips are all part of the equipment in this department.

Elections

The backers of the favorites lend moral support to the candidates by posters and cheers.

ELECTIONS

As spring rolls around again, the high pitch of election fever grips the school. The posters, the parade, and the speeches are an integral part of the activities. With the keen competition for the mayor's and commissioners' offices, the elections have become one of the highlights of the school year. Elections hold a sad note for the losers and their backers. This event causes the janitors to lament, because it's their job to clean up the remains of posters and other debris.

The Rumble Wagon hits the campaign road.

HOMECOMING DANCE

Homecoming Court: Bill Bodman, Don Perozzi, King Don Lawnicki, Queen Vicki Carlson, Sally Hirsch, Joyce Agress.

"Seventh Heaven," the 1954 Homecoming dance, was its traditional success with students and alumni attending in large numbers. The ethereal notes of Buddy Everett's orchestra coupled with electric stars, angel-hair clouds, and glittering angels transported Bloomites to their own private heaven.

The highlight of the star-studded evening was the crowning of Vicki Carlson and Don Lawnicki as King and Queen by last year's royal couple, Ron Galiene and Jeri LaMorticella.

King and Queen Don Lawnicki and Vicki Carlson dance the Royal Waltz before the eyes of their admiring court.

Heavenly bodies sway to music under star-sprayed skies at the Seventh Heaven dance.

Prom Court: Ron Galiene, Don Lawnicki, Ann Ollendorf, Vicki Carlson, Queen, Joyce Agress, Don Perozzi, Barbara Cordes, Sally Hirsch, Bill Bodman.

Sea Of Enchantment

The dance of all dances . . . the Junior-Senior Prom. Open to upperclass couples, this year's Prom took to the tropical breezes blowing right over the boys' gym.

Sinking down under dreamy waters, the gym rested on the bottom of the "Sea of Enchantment." Couples in colorful gowns and handsome tuxedos floated and swayed to the wave-like strains of Ralph Meeker's band. As the magic hour arrived, Don Perozzi crowned Joyce Agress as the prettiest mermaid of the underwater world.

Get Acquainted Dance

Everyone flocks to the Get-Acquainted Dance hoping he will meet that certain guy or gal.

Freshies are scared of them. Sophomores and juniors love them. After four years the seniors are still coming to them. What? Why dances, of course! After an exciting football or basketball game, what better way is there to spend an evening than at a dance? From freshman to senior everyone flocks to the Get-Acquainted Dance hoping he will meet that certain guy or gal. The school colors are sported by one and all at the annual Blue and White Dance, held this year after the Argo basketball game. The hour of twelve o'clock ends the fun all too soon when one is dancing at either of these affairs.

Joyous students jam the gym for the Blue and White dance, after a crushing victory over Argo.

Mother-Daughter Banquet

All available space was occupied by the girls and their mothers at the banquet held in the cafeteria.

"Honestly, Mom, you look wonderful, and I'm really proud of you!" The senior girls' lovely mothers heard this on the night of the annual Senior Mother-Daughter Banquet, "From Mother's Days to Daughter's Daze," on January 26. Decorated in purple and white, the cafeteria was the setting for the annual tribute to the seniors' mothers. For awhile it was thought that the traditional affair might have to be abandoned because it has gradually been outgrowing the space, but some last-minute adjustments made the banquet possible again this year. After a turkey dinner with all the trimmings, community singing was scheduled, followed by entertainment provided by the senior girls from the A Cappella choir.

Different shades of the roaring twenties were presented by the Sophomore class. One such presentation was the Keystone Cops, who are seen making their entrance.

Assemblies

Entertainment put on by outside talent and the pep sessions comprised the remainder of our assemblies.

The crashing of cymbals, the tinkling of bells, and the twanging of harmonious chords on the lute which sounded in the third floor hall for many weeks last spring served as the harbinger of this year's senior class play.

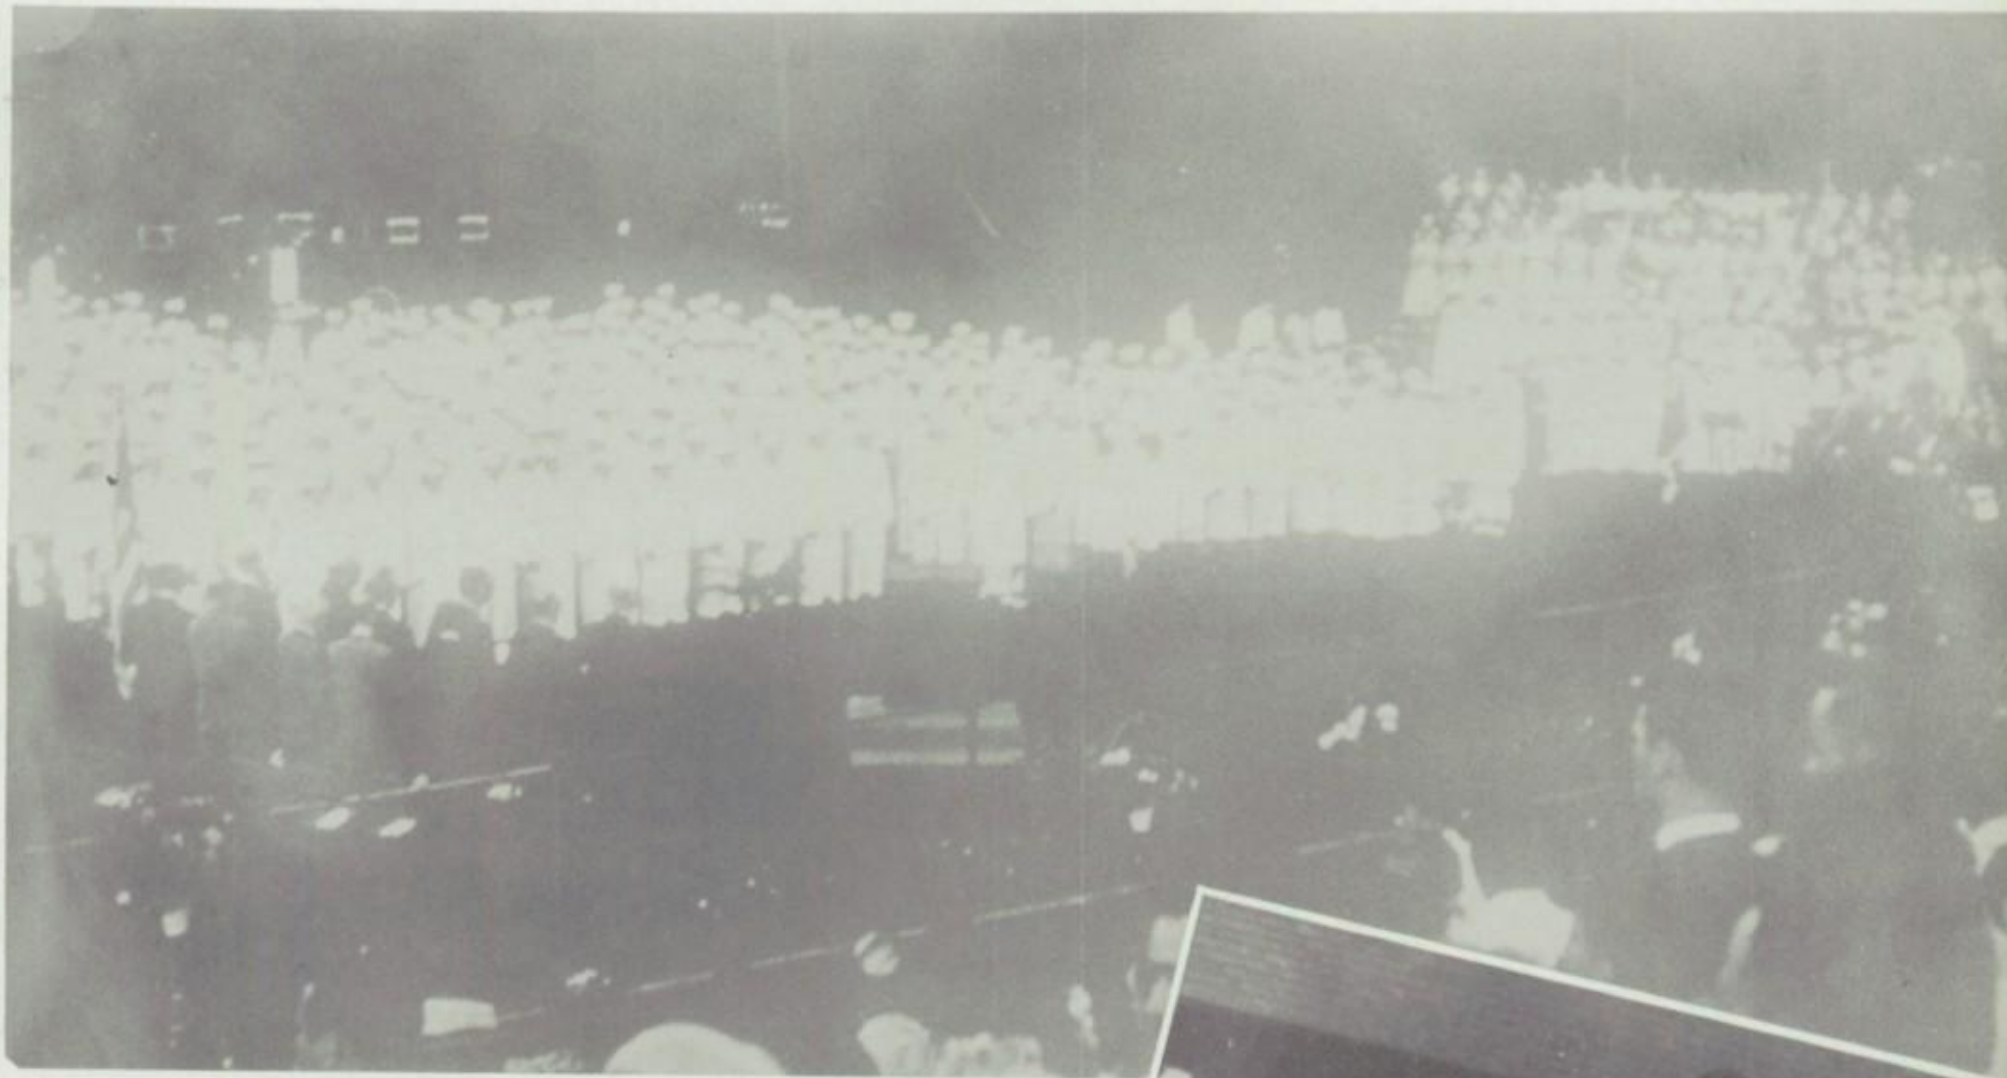

Under the able direction of Miss Leitha Paulsen, "Lute Song," an ancient oriental love story which first appeared at the Imperial Court of Peking in 1404, transformed Bloom seniors into Chinese characters ranging from a royal princess to a maimed beggar.

The play had a successful three-night run in the Washington school auditorium on March 31 and April 1 and 2.

Gayle Yanson, as Tchou-ou-niang, directs the children in the "Monkey Song."

Graduation

GRADUATION

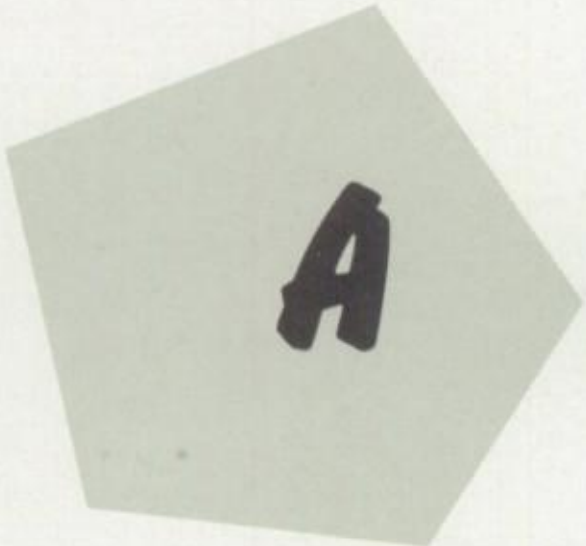

Bewildered by a mixed feeling of anticipation for what lies ahead and regret for the departure they are making from Bloom, seniors march towards that final goal—receiving a diploma.

Some of them will go on to college, while others will find employment or enter the service.

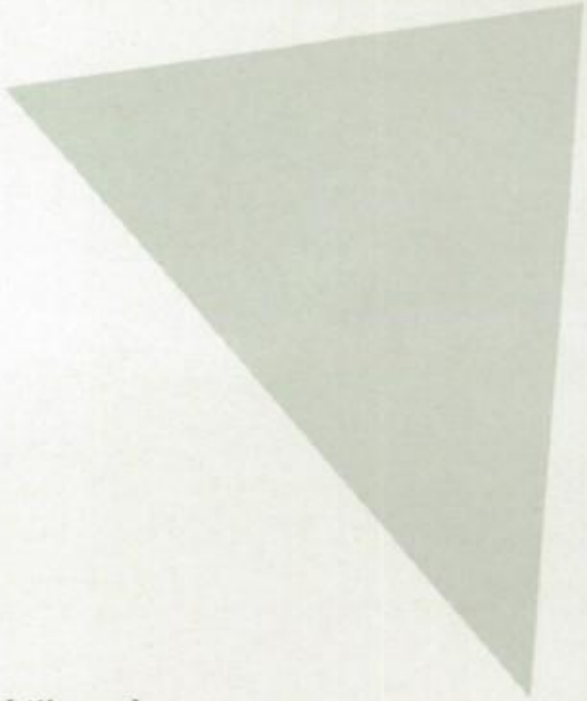

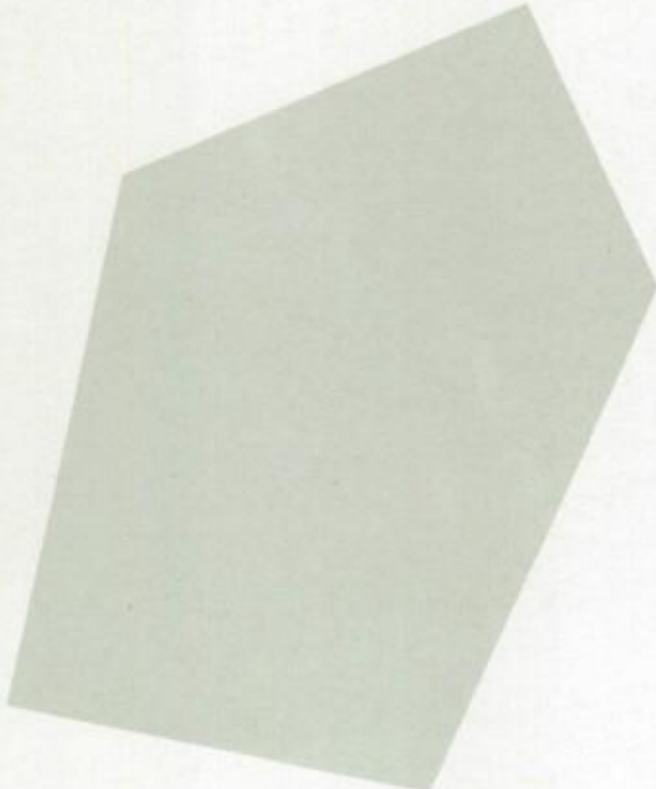

With solemn expressions, junior officers, Mickey Sundstrom and Don Perozzi, lead the seniors in baccalaureate services.

The Trojans were victorious morally a number of times this season but finished with a humble record of seven losses, no wins, and one tie.

Exhibiting a better brand of football than the record indicated, the boys, under Coaches Cecil M. Sarff and Fred Jacobeit, played their hearts out, but they had to settle for a tie with Blue Island.

The gridiron battles opened at Evanston with a 20-0 drubbing at the hands of the Wildkits. They then made a home stand against East Aurora but lost 6-0. Journeying to East St. Louis, the Trojans were overwhelmed by the much superior Flyers, 33-0. The Meteors of Thornton Fractional avenged a defeat of the previous season by dumping the Trojans 24-0. Fighting a furious battle with their rivals, the Wildcats of Harvey, they demonstrated that true Bloom spirit by out-playing the Cats throughout the game but lost 7-0. The final three games of the schedule consisted of two losses and a tie.

The returning juniors for next season's Trojans are All-Conference tackle, Bob Behm; tackle, Hank Junge; quarterback, Bob Green; center, Don Delsner, and end, Jim Curcio.

Frosh - Soph

Like many football teams, Coach Frank Buchtel's Frosh-Soph gridders had difficulty chalking up 1954 victories. Injuries and ineligibilities constantly hampered the Bloom squad.

The daytime opener went to Evanston 27-0. East Aurora won 33-0, then the Buchtelmen slipped a win in the record book by nudging out Thornton Fractional 14-12. Defensive and offensive standout Jim McDonnell carried the pigskin for both Little Trojan touchdowns. Fred Macklin and Bob Duncan ran for the two decisive points.

At Thornton, McDonnell and Willis Edwards were injured before the game really got started. Thornton managed a 13-0 win. The following week Argo won a heartbreaker 6-0. Blue Island edged by with a 20-14 victory, although quarterback Duncan heaved a TD pass to Tony Renzetti, and later Ray Hudson streaked for six more points. Leyden conquered them in the final game 34-14, despite runs of 60 and 95 yards, respectively by Macklin and Hudson.

Pursued by a Fractional player, Tony Renzetti tucks the ball under his arm and scampers for yardage.

Coaches Nello Petersanti and Ed Clarke guided the fighting Freshmen through a clean league slate. Therefore, the South Suburban league football crown was handed Bloom's way.

Ninety-eight boys reported for practice, 98 hustling and hard-working boys who learned football fundamentals and applied them well. The season started at Kankakee West. Leroy Jackson, the unfaltering running and scoring star of the squad, galloped into the end zone for the only marker. The smarting of the 14-0 defeat at Kankakee East incited the Tiny Trojans to sweep through the rest of their season. After overpowering Thornton Fractional 31-6 with four touchdowns by Jackson and one by Steve Beshore, they went on to Thornton 20-7, with three more by Jackson.

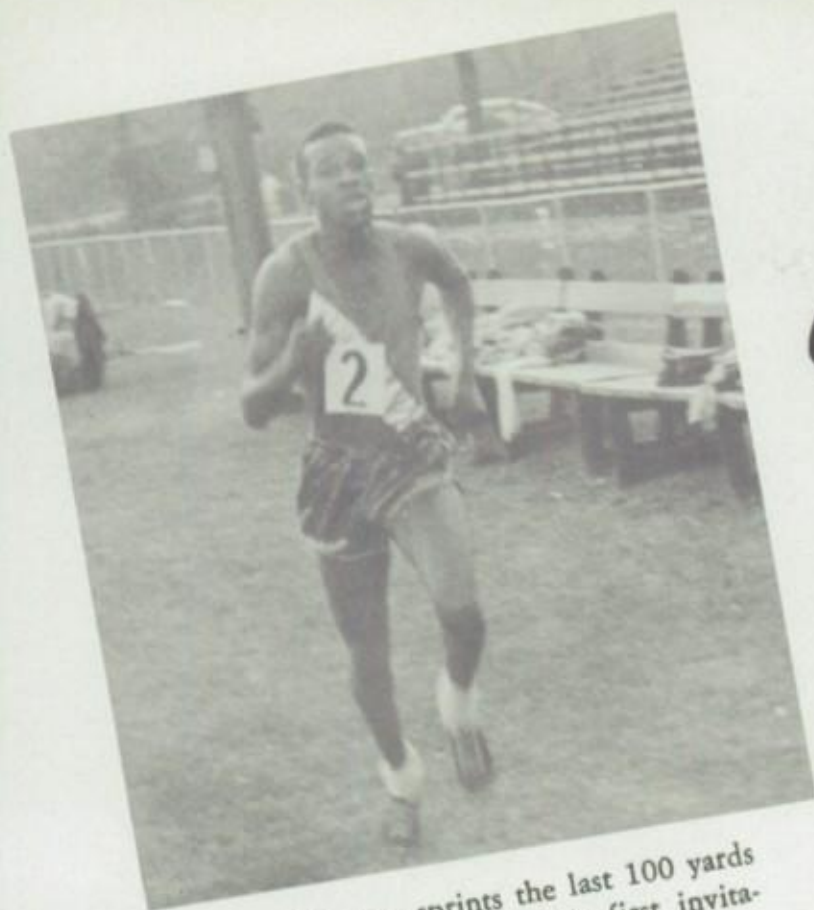

Argo died 13-0 with a TD by quarter-back Chuck Green, and Blue Island succumbed 21-6 with one by halfback Beshore. At Leyden, Bloom cinched the laurels by winning 13-6 with Jackson's punt return and Ray Cianchetti's end sweep.

After the field had closed, 70 boys were still on this victorious squad.

Coach Petersanti gives his team a vigorous pep talk during the half of one of the Bantam Trojans' home victories.

Cross Country

Nick Thomas sprints the last 100 yards to finish third in Bloom's first invitational.

Warming up vigorously, Larry Spann prepares for a meet at home.

The empty stadium arose and applauded our gallant pathfinders as they sprinted down the last 100 yards of their 1.9 mile course. This is cross country at Bloom.

The Varsity dropped its three openers to Hinsdale, Oak Park, and Glenbard. Next it was Coach Ralph Steben's dream taking shape in the form of the first Bloom Invitational with seven teams and 70 runners competing. A well-balanced Englewood team took home the trophy. Then Bloom clobbered a weak Reavis team and grabbed a second in a Chicago quadrangular. Coach Steben conveyed a thirst for victory to the boys who beat their rivals, LaGrange, 24-34. At muddy Proviso, they lost their final meet to the team destined to be state champion.

As a team, Bloom took fourth in the district, but pacesetter Larry Spann qualified for downstate with a fifth in the race. The flashy flyers who return will make up a first-rate team capable of performing wonders.

Wrestling

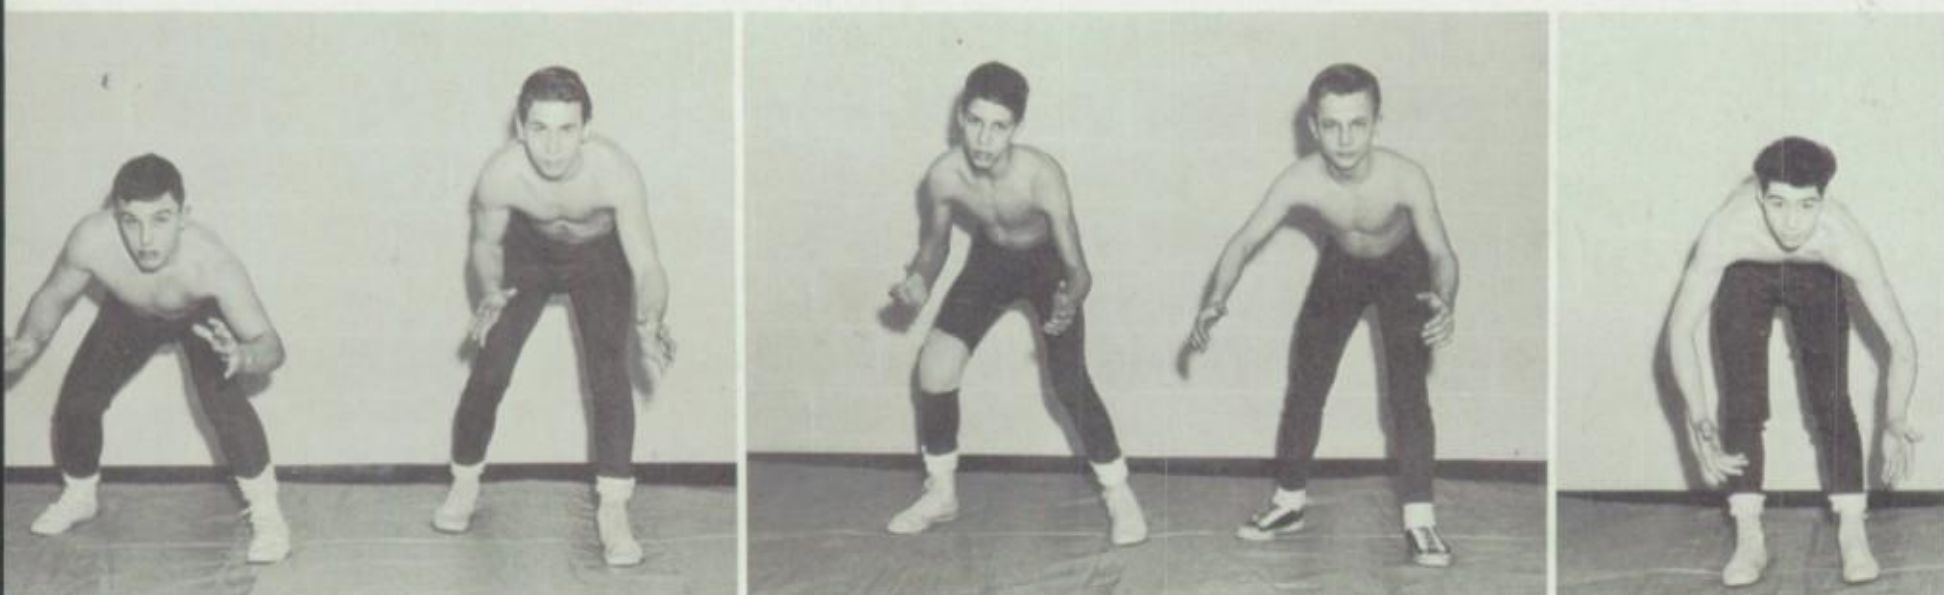

Coach C. M. Sarff's mat crew did not have an exceptional season so far as the record was concerned, but the foundation for a top-flight team may have been laid. Only four of the regulars, Virgil Passarelli 133, Tony Jendrasek 145, Mickey Sundstrom 154, and John Lindley 175, are seniors who will not return next year.

The Bloom record was tied as the Trojans sent five boys, Pete Resedean 95, Rudy Jones 103, Carl Reeves 112, Rich Hancock 120, and Bob Behm heavyweight, to the state meet. Jones, the star of the squad, notched a second place at Champaign. The other Sarff men fell in earlier rounds.

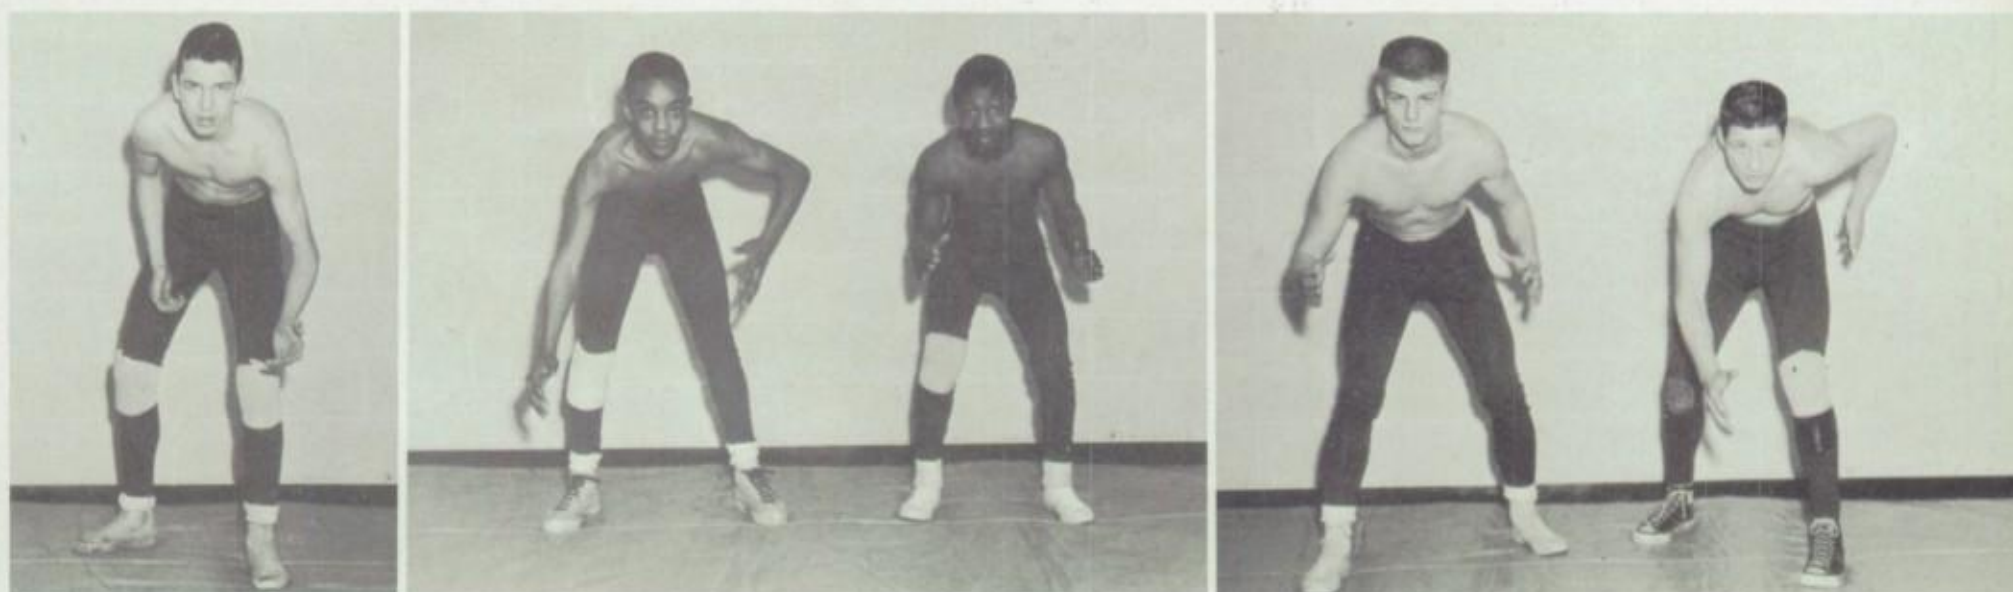

Of ten dual meets Bloom came out on the long end of those with Leyden, Hirsch, and Sandburg. In the conference meet the Blue-White finished fourth in the five-team field. However, in the sectional the performances of the five lads who went down state brought Bloom home third out of ten squads.

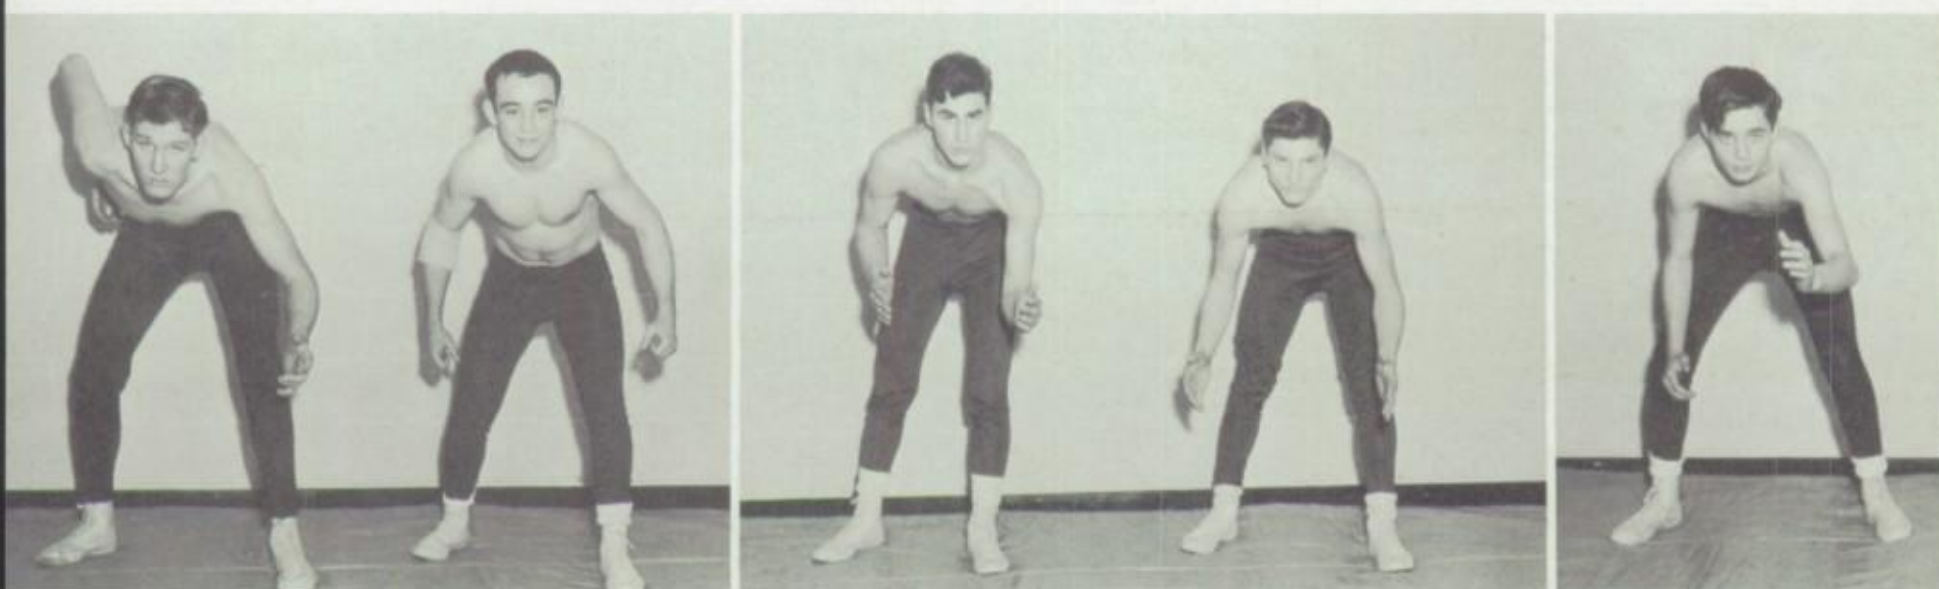

Ride 'em cowboy! Bob Behm rides Reavis heavyweight to eventual win.

The first Varsity Basketball team under Coach Bert Moore became the pride of all Trojan fans. The rampaging Trojans were off to a fast start as they won the first five games of the season, including an impressive victory over the Rich Rockets 77-55. Then a cold spell set in as the Mooremen dropped four out of five contests around the Christmas season. This was followed by two wins and a defeat. Then the Trojans really got up steam and rolled to ten straight triumphs before the season came to a close at the Regional Tournament.

During the first round of League play Bloom was defeated by Lockport, Kankakee, and Thornton. However, the greatly improved Trojans defeated all league foes in the second round, including the three mentioned above.

The highlight of the season came when the scoreboard read Bloom-54, Thornton-53. A Bloom team had not defeated Thornton for five years, and the Wildcats had held a 15 out of 16 record against Blue-White cagers. The imaginary spell was broken forever, and student cheering shook the mighty building.

The season ended with an 18-6 record, thanks to Bill Bodman, and Morris Cortez, Co-Captains and All-South Suburban; Glen Pomrehn, All Regional center; Jerome Zawada, great little guard; and dependable Freddy Johnson. All are departing seniors. Grady McCollum, junior forward, along with Bobby Bell, sophomore forward, also contributed greatly to the successful season.

The Little Trojans of '54 emerged from their South Suburban encounters victorious in 11 of their 14 games. This was good enough to rate them as runner-up to Leyden in the Conference standings. Coach Bob Rehberg's high scoring cagers were victorious twice over Thornton, Blue Island, Lockport, and Argo. Splits were gained with Fractional, Leyden, and Kankakee. The over-all record for the season was 15 wins and four losses.

The first battle with the Wildcats of Harvey was a thrilling overtime victory for the Little Trojans, 65 to 63. The campaign came to a roaring finish with an overwhelming setback of the same Cats, 66 to 57.

Sophomore standouts were big six-foot six-inch Bob Tewes, Jerry Colangelo, Bob Thompson, Paul Goebel, Bob Duncan, Al Jankowsky, Dave Leahy, and Bob Larcher. Scoring honors for the season went to Bob Tewes, with Jerry Colangelo running a close second.

An effective fade away jump shot by Miles Zeller helps Bloom along the road to victory.

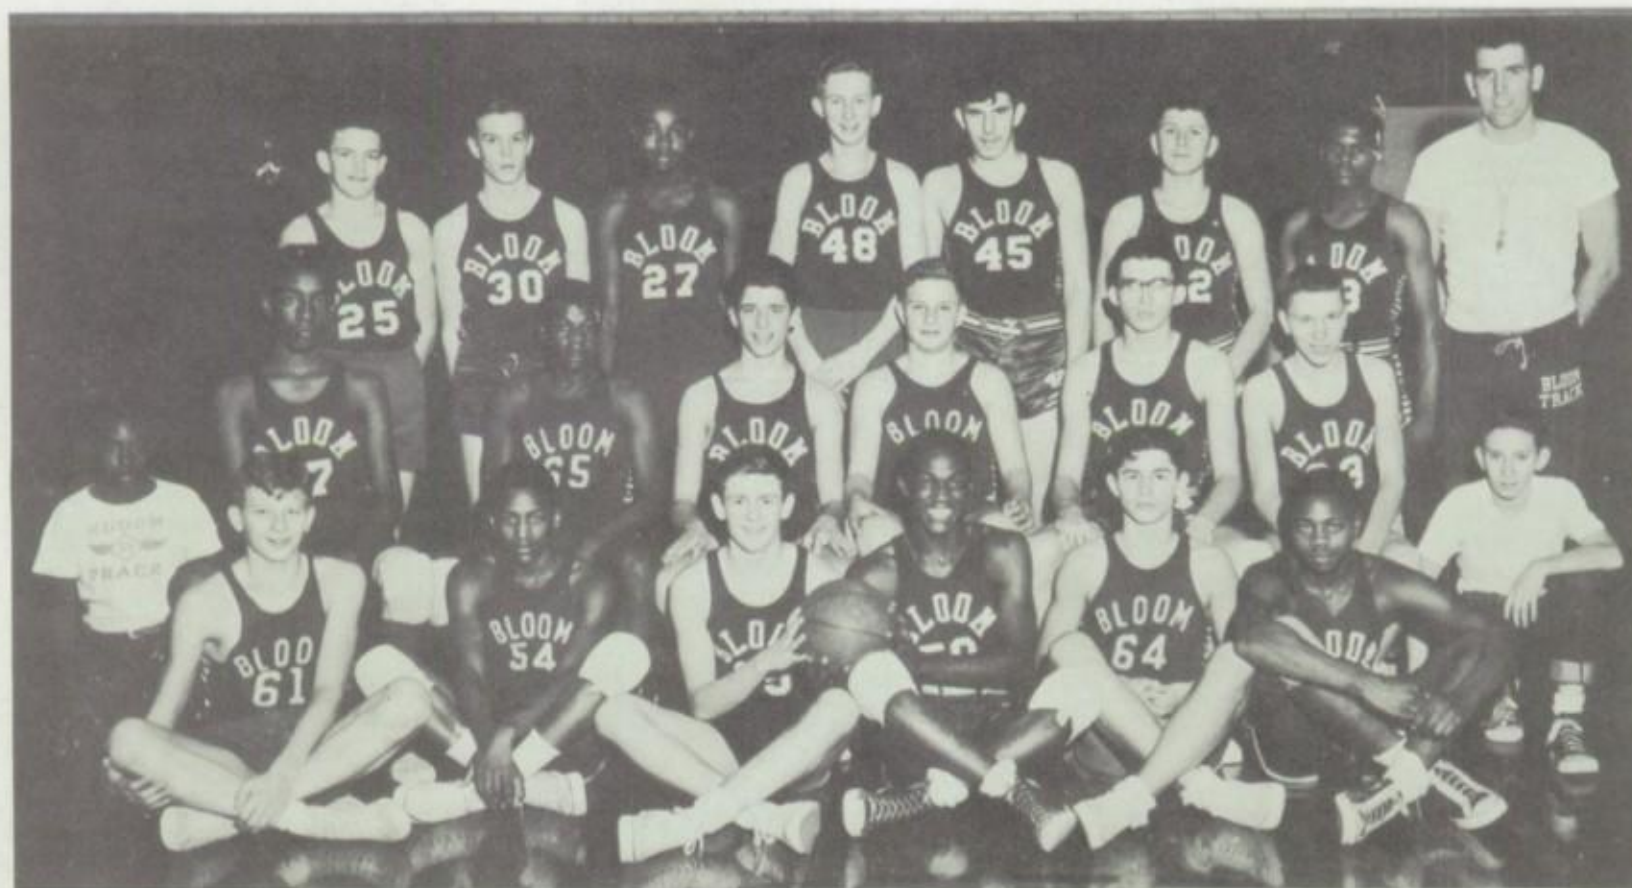

Freshman Basketball

Taking on all comers, the Tiny Trojans copped 14 of 17 contests. They got big ideas when Coach Fred Jacobeit opened his suitcase full of Iowa State tricks. Our archrivals from Thornton fell twice before this well-rounded band of Davids. They showed no dismay of crowds as they played the opener before the Varsity's Alton game.

They lost their second contest to East Kankakee in a 42-all overtime. The rest of the season had a silver lining except for two defeats by the tough Joliet quintet. Everyone had his crack at stardom. With only the second and third strings on the floor, Bloom rolled over Lincoln-Way 74-25. Forward Willie White, who led the scoring with a 157 total, consistently pumped in over ten points. Other mainstays were pivot-man Leroy Jackson, forward Chuck Green, and guards Byron Conant and Jim Foster. Coach Jacobeit has made a nice contribution to next year's Frosh-Soph group.

Skip Motlong, high point man, helped the situation by grabbing a second in both low and high hurdles.

The welcome mat will be out for returnees: obstacle-jumping Jim Curcio, distance stars Larry Spann and Nick Thomas, high-flying Al Persiani, and weightmen Vic Carlson and Ralph Marcio.

DEFENDING CONFERENCE CO-CHAMPS

The 1954 Spikemen under Coach Bert Moore won the South Suburban crown with their 10-4 league record. This included double victories over Blue Island, Thornton Fractional, and Kankakee. Other league foes were satisfied with splits. Bloom licked Rich 6-4 and lost to Joliet 5-4 in outside contests.

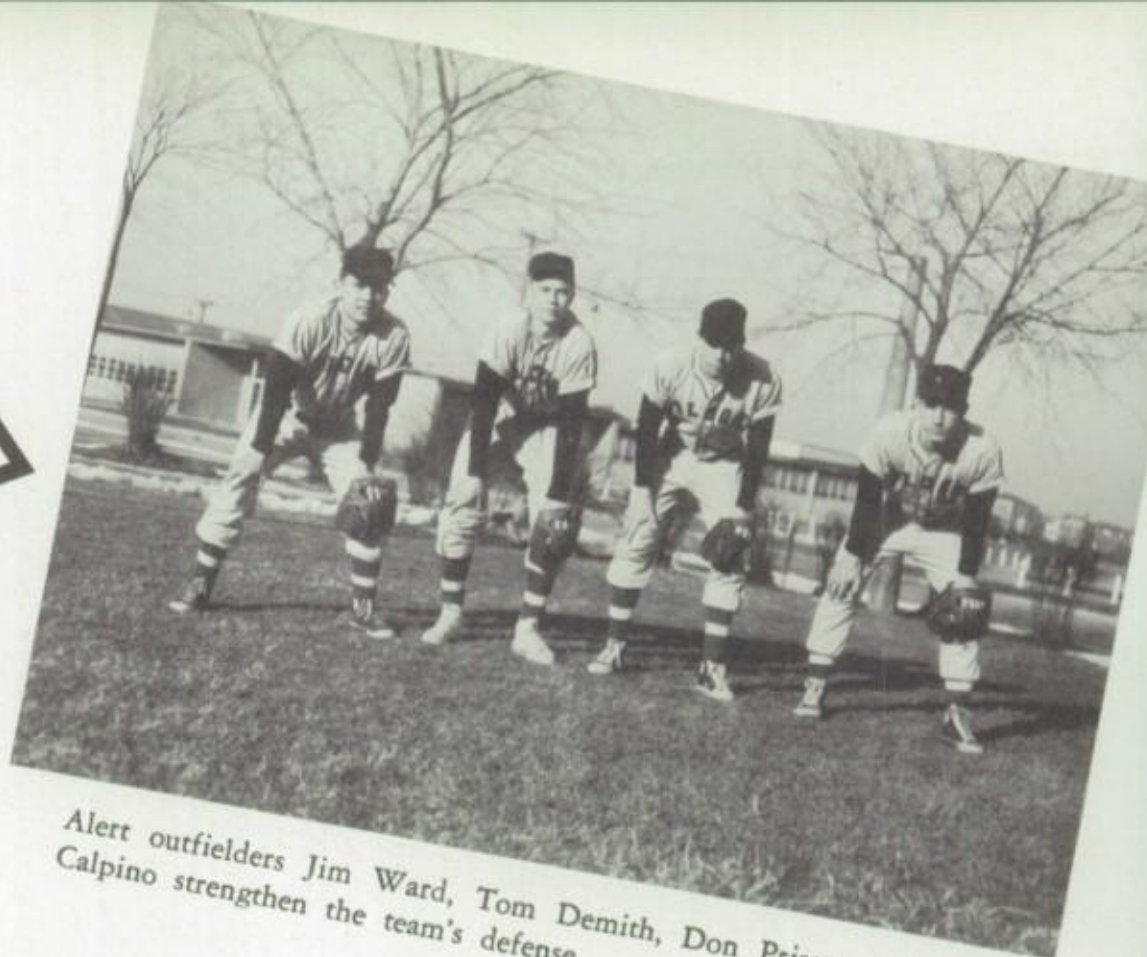

This year the Trojans appeared strong again at the beginning of the season. Hard-hitting Don Perozzi returned to first with last year's high batting average of .345. He also led the runs-batted-in with 16. Bob Craig, a 10 RBI man, resumed play at second. Morris Cortez was readily adaptable to either third base or catcher. Hitting .300 last year, Jerome Zawada returned as shortstop. Outfielders Tom Demith and Jim Ward, injured early last season, were also welcomed back. Other able flychasers were Don Prisco and Tom Calpino. Ken Peters stood on the mound as the only returning pitcher. Some good material stepped up from Frosh-Soph ranks.

With the eyes of the Trojans on the Crown again, all opponents were quite willing to upset them. However, with only ten games scheduled, they had just one chance apiece. Bloom was ready.

The 1954 Frosh-Soph ball hawks had a conference record of four wins and six losses under the tutoring of Coaches Arthur Mittman and Ralph Schmidt. Highlighting the season for the Bantam Trojans were their two victories over Rich, 3-2 and 5-1.

During the campaign the able pitching of moundman Howard Johnson and the slugging of John Flagda aided the team in achieving an overall record of six wins and eight losses. The Trojans were able to gain two victories over Argo and splits with Blue Island and Thornton Fractional. The disheartening part of the schedule was the drubbing received by Thornton 6-1 and double losses to Joliet and Leyden.

Sophomores who advanced to bolster the Varsity squad this year were Howard Johnson, John Flagda, John Pigott and Richard Piunti. The returning freshmen were Dave Leahy, Miles Zeller, Richard DeMith, Don Lauer, Jerry Colangelo, and Bob Duncan.

Girls'

Sports....

Besides school work and date life, many girls took part in the varied extra-curricular sports activities offered at Bloom.

Learning to play and to enjoy volleyball, basketball, and badminton, they also employed the rules and regulations of teamwork and co-operation not only in sports but in every day life.

"Come on, kids, let's cheer on our team; and let's put lots of pep and steam into it. Let's show the boys that we're backing them up."

These familiar cries of our "leaders" heard at the pep assemblies and at the games urged Bloomites into a cheering mood. Captained by Joyce Agress and newly sponsored by Miss Liela Veazey, these gals practiced every Wednesday.

"Like sports? Like to have fun? Then join the G.A.A." Those Bloom girls who were especially sports-minded responded eagerly to this invitation during the school year by ending one class day a week in the girls' gym.

Like all clubs, it had its "ins" and "outs." The G.A.A. year began with its "outs," which meant soccer and continued with its "ins" with volleyball, basketball and badminton. It had its "outs" again when the softball season came around.

The annual Play Day was held on October 23. The seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen got together on December 17 and held their Christmas party.

But the G.A.A. program isn't all sports and fun. There's a lot of mental work necessary, too. This was taken care of by Barbara Golletz, prexy; Carol Knaack, veep; Audrey Mascitti, secretary; Gloria Trevino, treasurer, and the board. JoAnne Wallis, senior, Luanna Koenning, junior, Ruby Kudlaty, sophomore, and Elvira Di Sanza, freshman, represented their class on the board. Miss Liela Veazey, department chairman, Miss Helen Becker, and Miss Carolyn Smith, gave advice and guidance when needed.

During this, their last year at Bloom, many senior girls made a weekly date on Wednesday for the GAA. Having fun playing the sports they learned to master and enjoy in their previous years brought that June graduation date too close.

From the time they began showing their skills in slamming the volleyball over the net to the time they could accurately sink the ball into the basket, these gals rounded out their four years in Bloom's feminine sports world under the assistance of Miss Helen Becker.

Every Tuesday night the "Jolting Juniors" invaded the girls' gym with renewed vigor. Putting the skills they acquired when they were freshmen and sophomores into action, these sport enthusiasts improved their play in volleyball, basketball, and badminton.

Renewing acquaintances and acquiring new friends, they had to put co-operation and teamwork into use.

The new sponsor, Miss Carolyn Smith, was always around to help.

One of the most enjoyable activities for those newly initiated into Bloom life was the Thursday night sports session after school.

After being introduced to the fundamentals of good teamwork and starting on their road to skillful playing on the gym floor, these freshmen girls took their place in Bloom's G.A.A. program. They worked under the guidance of another newcomer to Bloom, Miss Carolyn Smith.

THANKS TO...

Each Bloom girl owes a vote of thanks to the girls who work in the basketroom. These girls give up a study period to check valuables and baskets in and out. Along with their regular duties during gym periods, they give their free time after school to the G.A.A. members.

Bowling

It was Tuesday. The clock in the Bowl-Aire showed that it was 3:45 . . . time for the weekly meeting of the Senior Girls Bowling Club, sponsored by Miss Liela Veazey. Bowling balls sped down the brightly polished alleys heading for that victorious strike or try-again spare. Suddenly, all the pins disappeared, and triumphant shouts rang out. Many bowling nights were filled with such an atmosphere.

Increasing their averages and playing for the pure pleasure of the sport, these girls aimed for eligibility in the Bowling Tournament. High scorers Sharon Winn, Pat Jacobs, Gloria Ziems, Mary Ward, and Joan O'Grady participated in this event, which rounded out the bowling year.

Executive Council

This organization is a second principal for BTHS. When matters of dispute or discussion arise in any of the Student Council meetings, the Executive Council takes the load on its shoulders. Besides helping to determine what is the best for all, this junior "Board of Directors" has the privilege to draw up and put into effect bills of their own planning.

First Row: B. Cordes, D. Perozzi, F. Collier, D. Yaseen. Second Row: A. Sundstrom, W. Bodman.

The Executive Officers may well be considered the "core" of operations for BTHS. This judiciary organization is comprised of the four Commissioners, chosen to assist in the betterment of Bloom High, the Mayor, who presides over the Student Council and handles the morning announcements, and the Clerk, whose main job is to write the minutes of the Student and Executive Council meetings.

The Student Council's main function is to establish a means of communication between the students and the faculty of Bloom High. It tries diligently and honestly to solve the many problems confronting the school, in order to make it a better place for all. It is a government, run by the students and for the students, which helps to bring their wants and ideas into realization.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

In any large group there are those who stand out as "exceptional" in one field or another. For the ones who excel scholastically in the schools across the country the National Honor Society provides the distinction and recognition that is rightfully theirs.

To be eligible for the Society, a junior must have a 3.5 grade average and show outstanding promise in leadership, scholarship, character, and service. A senior must comply with the above qualifications and have a 3.0 grade average.

Annual Staff

To most students, eighth hour is merely an interim between the past day's work and the coming afternoon's activities, but not to the Annual Staff. No siree! Eighth hour means work, hard work! Trying to squeeze those pictures down to size, writing and re-writing for perfection, and meeting the onrushing deadline; but here's the book, hot off the press and rarin' to make a hit!

Deadlines, headlines, corrections, and oh! so little time to make them! These are but a few of the difficulties that the Broadcaster staff has to contend with. The story has to be in by Tuesday, says Miss House, adviser, and it is! How is this possible? Well, there is only one thing that has to be done . . . work! The Broadcaster staff does just that. Visualize a city news room, bustling with activity, and that is room 311 during seventh hour; the Broadcaster staff under Editor Peggy Bennett is working like bees!

Quill & Scroll

In addition to the National Honor Society is another honorary group, Quill and Scroll. This is for students who have done outstanding work on one of Blooms publications—The Tower, literary magazine, The Broadcaster, student newspaper, or the Bloom yearbook.

To be eligible for membership candidates must rank in the upper third of their class scholastically, must be of junior or senior standing, and must be recommended by the local sponsor and the executive secretary of the society.

This year three juniors and thirteen seniors were initiated into this group by the five who had been selected as juniors last year.

The main business at hand for the members of this organization, the Tower Staff, is to act as careful and impartial judges. Their job consists of reading and judging the articles written by students who hope to have them accepted and published in the Tower, a yearly anthology. The teachers are the ones who submit these articles, if they consider them worthy. They are then judged again by the Tower Staff and placed into one of three categories: either "Yes," "No," or "Consider." Those classified as "Yes" are sure to be printed in the final publication. Those marked as "Consider" are put aside for further consideration, and those checked as "No" are refused.

"Roll 'em!" The call goes out, and the boys in the projection booth flip the switch that starts another film on the way to the students. Besides showing movies in 317, the Projection Staff is responsible for the films shown in the class rooms. This hard working group also takes on the task of ordering, scheduling and cataloging the numerous films that come to Bloom each year.

The Girls League kept its pledge this year, again, by helping keep Bloom the best of schools and taking advantage of opportunities to help others.

The Girls League, one of the most active organizations, had a round of projects that clicked off one right after the other. In September, the Big Sisters initiated the freshmen into the coming school year. The Christmas project was making tray mats and filling stockings for veterans' children. Along with the annual decoration of the Christmas tree, other projects were the Bundle Week Drive and the traditional Senior Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Aided by their sponsors, Miss Theobald and Miss Callender, the Girls League symbol of the outstretched hand became more meaningful in 1954-1955.

Managers' Club

Most students buy tickets to games, and when they do, they are using the services of the Managers Club. At the game the members usher and distribute programs. A good part of the student-athletic relation was handled by this service organization. In the spring the members' fancy turns to the annual trip—the Chicago Daily News Relays. The members of the club gain valuable experience, serve their school, and have fun at the same time.

The members of this organization are the hall "cops" of our school. Their job is to discourage "illegal" wanderings of the students between classes. At lunch time they assist in checking out the students who go home to eat. The guides are stationed at various places in the halls and help keep them clean and quiet.

There would be a lot more congestion if the Traffic Guides weren't on the job. Their main function is to keep students on the right side of the halls and also to keep traffic moving. Besides this, they give other information pertaining to the location of certain rooms and places.

Attendance & Office Monitors

The Attendance and Office Monitors are the ones who have the enormous job of delivering the hundreds of call slips daily. They are also the ones who pick up the attendance cards. Even though this sounds like very hard work, these "busy beavers" know that they are performing important jobs that have to be done well, and they are proud of the job they do.

The hostesses, stationed in front of the library, are always ready to welcome any visitor to Bloom. They give not only a cheerful greeting but also any information requested by the visitor.

Library Girls

While performing a valuable service to the school, the library girls at the same time acquire a useful training for themselves. Because of this training they may secure a position while attending college that will help pay their tuition. Checking books in and out, cataloguing new material, helping in the magazine room and showing students how to use the library more effectively are only a small part of their duties. The only reward they receive is the satisfaction of helping fellow classmates.

Roma Parva, or small Romans, is a club to which only first year Latin students are eligible to belong. At their bi-monthly meetings the members take part in games, skits, and discussions dealing with Roman customs and other things pertaining to the Roman way of living. Los Compañeros

"Buenas tardes, amigos!" greets Miss Strauss, Spanish instructor, as the members enter room 317 for their semi-monthly meeting of the Spanish Club. It's a gala occasion! Punch and cookies are the usual delicacies, and often informative games are played. During some of the meetings Spanish customs and traditions are discussed.

Each year during Christmas time, the French, Latin, German, and Spanish Clubs have a party, which portrays the outstanding Christmas customs of the various countries and each department sings a few songs in its respective language. One more thing: the first line translated says, "Good afternoon, friends!"

To further their knowledge of the basic traditions of olden-day Rome and also to become better acquainted with Roman life and times is the main purpose of the second and third year Latin students who belong to the Advanced Latin Club. Each year these aspiring Romans get together and present their Roman Banquet, which besides being a means of entertainment brings back to life again the glorious days of Caesar.

It takes a good man to solve some of the problems which are brought up during a Math Club session. However, after having set up the formula, all you have to do is "turn the crank" Don't be too angry though, if, after having finally solved the problem, you find the root to be of the imaginary or extraneous type.

Chess Club

There are certain qualities that you must have before trying your skill at a game of chess. Of course you must be calm, cool and collected, but most of all, you must plan to figure about three jumps ahead of the other fellow. When this is mastered, challenge a member of the Chess Club. Oh, one more thing. The object of the game is to corner the other man's king. Now you're ready to play.

Every Bloom girl looks to the future for her own special niche in the homemaking world. Wisely understanding the preparation needed to be successful as a housewife, some of these girls take courses especially geared to equip them with homemaking skills, such as the foods and clothing classes. Along with concentration on technique, a healthy outlook and growing maturity must be attained for complete assurance of a happy homemaking career.

FFA

The miracle of growing plants is made real to the members of the Future Farmers of America. For those who would join the ranks of agriculturists, Bloom has set up an extensive program which conveys to the students the latest in techniques and scientific processes of growing more for less. Those with the "green thumb" can find more than knowledge in FFA. The activities, regional fairs, an occasional picnic, and various discussion groups round out the young growers' road to successful farming.

Numerous activities throughout the year keep the members of this organization, the Future Teachers of America, very busy.

The FTA is now in the act of paying the expenses of a war orphan in Europe for one year; something they have been striving to do for many years.

In addition to this, trips, parties, talks and projects keep the club moving at a fast pace. This year the organization was host to the Rich Township FTA at a tea designed primarily to promote better relations between the school clubs. The members also helped pour at a PTA scholarship tea at Roosevelt school.

Each year in recognition of National Education Week the FTA displays an exhibit in the school showcase. Also, as an annual occasion, the American Association of University Women invites the members to a party where the benefits and improvements of teaching are discussed.

Audubon Club

If you'd really like to learn something about birds, bees and honeysuckle trees, there's only one thing to do. Join the Audubon Club. This organization, comprised solely of earnest naturalists and willing botanists, provides entertainment by showing films and discussing the various phases of outdoor wild life. Very often, however, the members of this group "rough it" by taking hikes through the woods to acquaint themselves with many of the wonders of nature.

German Club

For the first time a German Club was organized at Bloom this year. Included in their programs were colored slides on Germany, games, and musical programs. A highlight of the meeting was a take-off on the Little Red Riding Hood theme for a puppet play.

Drama Club

"Hollywood, here I come!" may well be the secret hope of many Drama Club members. They learn many "tricks of the trade," such as the art of acting and producing. This knowledge is then put to use by the dramatists in producing informal plays, which helps to further their experience. Besides all of the work which accompanies this profession, time out plays an important role, too. To ease the strain parties are given and a trip to Chicago is usually on the agenda for entertainment.

U. N. Club

The question has arisen: How can I become a good American citizen? The answer is: Join the United Nations Club! This organization helps its members to become better acquainted with the workings of the U. N. Council, and it also tends to make them more appreciative of other cultures than their own.

A trip to Starved Rock, a Christmas party, and a U. N. assembly are some of the ways in which the U. N. Club spends its extra time, besides meeting every other Tuesday night. Foreign students are automatically made honorary members and don't have to pay dues, but there is one catch: "Please tell us about your homeland," shout the other members.

Photo Club

The mysteries of the dark room, the intricate settings of fine cameras, and the pride of the finished photograph are all very real to the members of the Photo Club. Besides explanations of procedure and equipment, programs consist of slide shows, movies and practical experience. Many of the pictures in this book are taken by Photo Club members. Divided into two groups, advanced and beginners, the organization provides opportunity for everyone.

Red Cross Club

The Red Cross Club is an organization patterned after the Red Cross of America. Its members are always busy working on many projects which are designed to help unfortunate people in foreign countries as well as in our own. This year they put on a Halloween party for children at the Illinois Crippled Children's Hospital. They also sent stuffed toys to children in flood areas of the United States.

Radio Club

Belonging to the Radio Club brings a lot of pleasure to Bloom's "hams." At their weekly meetings they discuss various things about making and fixing radios. Almost all of the twelve members have passed a five-word-per-minute code test, and nearly half of the members have earned their novice radio licenses.

6L6 Club

Do you know who operates the amplifying equipment for the morning announcements, for all of the assemblies, and at some of the dances? The five members of the "6L6" Club perform these functions. The boys are picked from the membership of the Radio Club for these important duties.

Future Nurses

Making its debut this year, the Future Nurses Club fills the need of girls interested in nursing as a career. Its programs, field trips to hospitals, speakers, and films, help the prospective nurses get a taste of their future life.

Morgue Board

Where? Old Bloom! When? Every Friday night after the game! Who? The "lively" students of Bloom High! Why? Dancing, of course!

You can be sure to find a partner for a fast jitter-bug at the Morgue, but if you're one of those sentimental dancers, you'd better bring your own.

Band

What would we do without the Band? It plays at all the football and basketball games, and also provides music for our pep assemblies. Apart from the athletic world, the Band plays in various other programs. It performs at the Christmas Vesper program, the Spring Concert, Baccalaureate, and the graduation exercises.

Orchestra

One of the major music groups at Bloom is the Orchestra. This group has a series of concerts starting in December after many tryouts. Its first public appearance is at a Christmas Vesper service. Then comes the Spring Concert. The Orchestra also furnishes the music for Baccalaureate and Commencement. In addition it also plays at numerous teachers' meetings, assemblies, and the Senior class play.

A Cappella Choir

The finest harmony, the finest rhythm, and by far the finest singing can mean only one thing—Bloom's A Cappella Choir. The voices which comprise this group are trained and perfected, for the participants were first trained in Boys Glee Club, Girls Glee Club, or Girls Choir. The Choir gives many concerts throughout the year, performs at the Christmas assembly, and finishes the season with the Baccalaureate and Commencement programs.

Girls' Choir

After having completed the rigorous but exhilarating training given in the Girls' Glee Club, the finer voices are combined to form the more advanced group, Girls' Choir. Usually comprised of 60 or more beautifully blended voices, the Girls' Choir sings at many programs throughout the year. The final step in a girl's vocal training is from Girls' Choir to A Cappella Choir, which is the most advanced group of vocalists at BTHS.

Girls' Glee Club

What would you like to hear? Semi-popular, classical, or perhaps some musical comedy. Whatever it may be, the Girls' Glee Club can do it. Its repertoire is varied and usually consists of light music. From this organization, comprised solely of the weaker sex, many members graduate to the more advanced group, Girls' Choir, and still others become part of the A Cappella Choir, which is the finest vocal group at BTHS.

Boys Glee Club

Boys Glee Club is a versatile organization. The boys sing hit tunes, popular ballads and classicals, and are often found chanting a rhythmic, narrative style Negro spiritual. Perfecting soloists and using the tape recorder to discover weaknesses, occupies a major role in their training. The Spring Concert offers this group a fine chance to display all that it has learned and practiced during the year.

Freshman Chorus

The Freshman Chorus is one of the largest vocal groups at Bloom. Because of its size the members are divided into several groups which meet at different periods of the day. The purpose of the Freshman Chorus is mainly to teach its members the fundamentals of singing with most of the members eyeing a place in the A Cappella Choir. The Freshman Chorus is in only one program throughout the year, the Spring Concert.

Majorettes

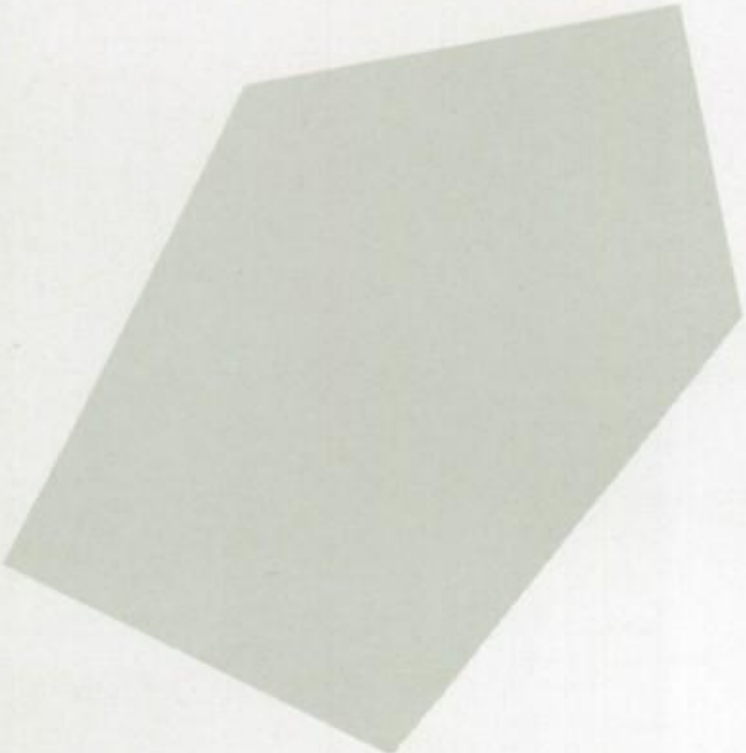

V. Carlson, J. Boyd, P. Utermark, M. Girolami, C. Seely, B. Cordes.

Up, higher and higher fly the batons, and down, faster and faster they come, landing safely in the hands of the majorettes. This is but one of the many dazzling tricks which are exhibited by Bloom's fast strutting, blue and white clad twirlers. They perform at all pep assemblies and athletic events and prove to be an effective stimulus for both students and players.

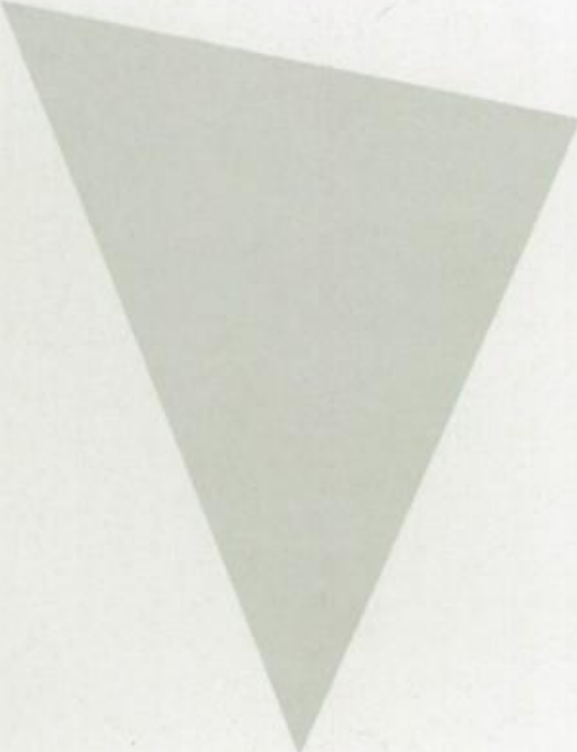

A DMINISTRATION

Accomplishing the high goals of our school system by Building up the abilities, skills, and Character of their students, Bloom teachers, counselors, and superintendent, like all American educators, act as co-workers and guides along the road of learning.

DR.
HAROLD H.
METCALF

With a genial smile, Dr. Harold H. Metcalf, superintendent, offers his guiding hand to every student, teacher, and worker seeking his sound advice. During his active eight years as administrator of Bloom's policies, he has been personally concerned with developing good citizens and instilling greater pride in the school and in the athletic teams.

Giving his enthusiastic support to any needed improvement proposals, he was the activating factor in procuring an expansion program this year.

Despite the large enrollment, he has influenced the lives of everyone, all who admire and respect him both as adviser and friend.

BOARD OF EDUCATION AND P. T. A.

Behind the scenes of an efficiently managed educational institution two organizations work hand-in-hand to maintain harmony and cope with constantly arising difficulties.

Headed by Mr. Harry Lange, the Board of Education initiated a $3,700,000 expansion program, and this year secured the sanction of all local civic groups and, more important, of the voters. Its seven members, elected by the citizens, sacrifice much of their own valuable time to serve long, tedious hours without pay, solving problems of administration and finance.

Co-operating with the board, the Parent-Teacher's Association acts as the connecting link between the school and the home. With Mrs. Edmund Jaracz as president, it has sponsored a Student Loan Fund, F. T. A. scholarships, and interesting programs that bring to the public eye the problems of modern education.

Through the dedicated efforts of these dependable groups the Bloom of Tomorrow is about to become a reality, a high school which the community can be justifiably proud and which will continue to uphold the highest standards.

Business Manager • Registrar • Counselors

Holding the purse strings of Blooms finances is Mr. Alfred Odegard, business manager and assistant superintendent. Besides purchasing equipment and preparing a budget, he sees that the school elections and the bus systems run smoothly.

All activity in the busy office centers around Miss Hildur Soderman, registrar. As keeper of files and records, she sends out transcripts of credit and is the unfailing source of information regarding Bloom life.

Problems of all kinds are brought to the patient counseling staff. With parental understanding, they settle disputes and prepare students for college and careers. They also direct various scholastic activities and recommend able young people for positions in the community.

Board...

The class of '55 has come to the end of its four-year journey along the Bloom road to a high school education.

As seniors, they felt greater poise and maturity in mastering their schoolwork and finding time for extra-curricular activities. Part-time jobs were also on the busy agenda.

September brought the first days of English literature and laboratory fumes in chemistry. Pirates took over a deserted island in the class assembly, and Vicki Carlson and Don Lawnicki were crowned queen and king of the Homecoming dance. Climaxing the year's entertainment activities was the "Lute Song," the senior class play. Those possessing dramatic talents turned Chinese for the three-night run.

..... Keep Pace

Contentedly relaxing among sarong-clad Hawaiians, Ray Morrow forgets that he is stranded on a not quite deserted island.

A deserted study hall enables Phyllis Dispensa to concentrate on her marbletop in an after-school chem session.

Male chemists turn mad scientists while the females act as their audience.

The Bloom . . .

Announcements and cards remind Judy Rehnquist, Anne Ohlendorf, and Bill Gaskill that graduation's just around the corner.

. . . Fifty-fivers

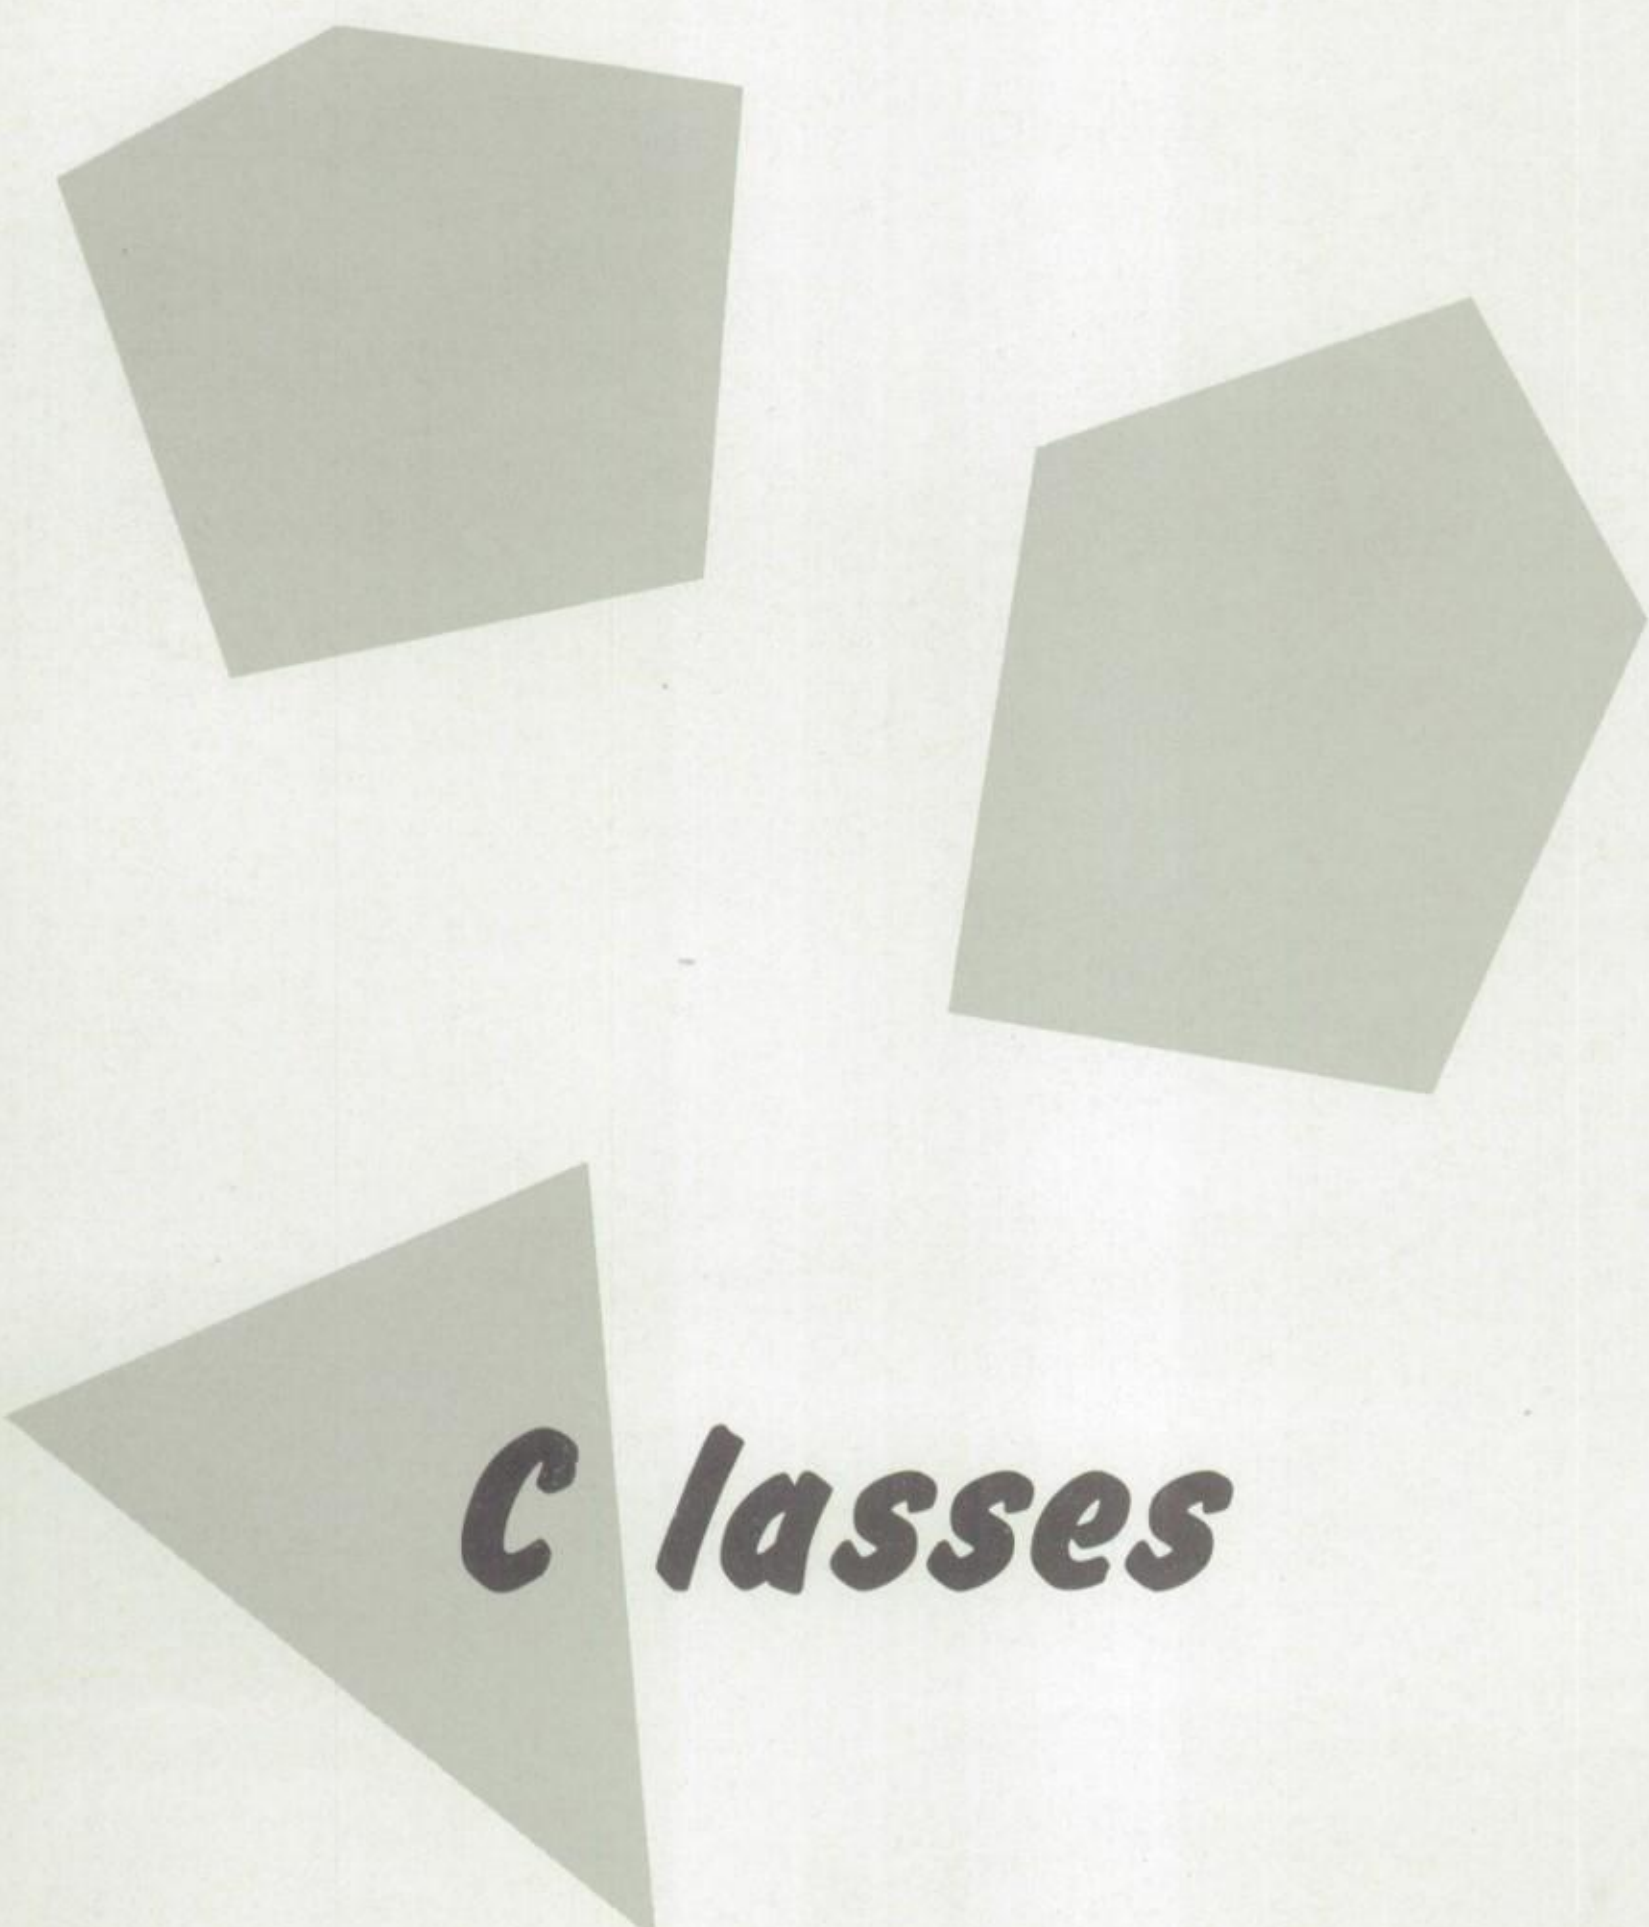

There are two ways to do everything! Kay Hoppel checks out a book for her English IV library work—Bill Bodman apparently gets all the information he needs by just looking at the title and author.

Bob Green, junior, gives seniors Pat Lucas and Jane Holtz some big talk.

"Me-no-speak-English" Cortez steps aside to let Big-chief Bodman take over pep pow-wow.

C lasses*

An important place in high school life
Belongs to those many students who, as one group,
Can be called underclassmen . . . from the time when they are initiated into Bloom on Freshman Day until the antics of the Junior Penny Social they feel themselves becoming a part of a closely-knit fellowship working side by side.

Junior Board

"Money! Money! Money! We need money," seemed to be the motto of the junior class. The juniors were constantly selling something. "Buy a candy bar" and the squeals of delight could be heard as another dime was added. Then they were selling football pencils—not only after classes but before classes and during classes. At the Thornton Fractional football game, their good salesmanship was shown in the number of ice cold cokes sold, even though it was a cold night. The Penny Social really cleaned out everyone's pockets and added quite a bit to the junior treasury.

Everyone was humming "Toyland" after the juniors presented their assembly in December. It was both fun and lots of work, but nothing could be as much fun or more work than preparing for the magic night of the Prom. It was agreed, though, that it was worth the time spent trying to make it the best Prom Bloom ever had.

As the year came to an end, they were looking forward to next year, when they would finally be seniors.

What sophomore will forget rushing up to a classmate and asking, "Are you a moo moo?" and receiving the answer, "No, I'm an oink, oink," at the Barnyard Frolic on October 14, and then hitching his blue-jean clad legs around the bleachers while he sipped cider.

Under the leadership of the class sponsor, Mr. Robert Andrews, the sophs carried on in this friendly, informal spirit through the year as they sold candy, hawked their wares at the Blue Island football game, and invaded the gym for the sophomore assembly on November 18.

Maybe the "oink, oink" mentioned above was a touch of ham, because the sophomore all-school assembly on January 14, "Yestervear at Bloom," typifying life at Old Bloom some 20 years ago, was one of the high points of the year. There was a gleam of remembrance in the eyes of some of the teachers as we appeared in middies, knickers, and long curls.

The spring elections and decorating for commencement ended the year, during which the sophs combined the enthusiasm of their freshman underlings with the stability of the experienced seniors to make all their projects a success.

"Hold that cup steady, you goof." These unflattering words were overheard at the Leyden football game, as two shivering freshmen attempted to pour steaming coffee into paper cups, as they balanced precariously on the stands. This first moneymaking effort of the class of '58 filled the freshman piggy bank with pennies—and dollars! The frosh industry paid off with a profit of $165.72 for candy sales and peddling at the game.

You might say the frosh "put on the dog" for their own assembly when a professional canine chorus entertained them on December 16. Needless to say, this assembly was a howling success.

Even though their mixer was on April 1, the freshmen proved they were nobody's fools at their all-school assembly late in the spring. It was fun to watch as the freshmen used their boundless energy to give everybody a good time.

The class had the good luck to have Miss Grace Chamberlain as sponsor, and an equally competent slate of officers, headed by Jack Meidell, prexy; Melanie Donovan, veep; Bonnie Kavinski, scribbler; and Richard Dandurand, penny-pincher.

Dear Carol!
Whether you know it or not,
I've always been your ardent admirer since we first met in homeroom, four years ago. I shall never forget our fun (I know I made you miserable most of the time) + our homeroom,
I use the term homeroom loosely!!!
This is nearly the end for us. I just want you to know I've appreciated your company + your tolerance of my "opinions." I shall never forget you Carol.

Love,
Gene

Carol:

I have enjoyed being your friend throughout our school life. I will never forget the wonderful time we had down at Bloomington. Remember the delicious meal we had at Miss Davis's home. There is so much I want to say that I just can't think of it all. Maybe these few words will express my enjoyable years with you. You are one person I will never forget. Best of luck in your nursing career and keep up your wonderful music.

I Wish you loads of Luck & Success.
